Cicero Pro Plancio 4

quid multa? destiti stomachari et me unum ex eis feci qui ad aquas venissent.

sed ea res, iudices, haud scio an plus mihi profuerit quam si mihitum essent omnes gratulati.

nam posteaquam sensi populi Romani aures hebetiores, oculus autem esse acres atque acutos, destiti quid de me audituri essent homines cogitare; feci ut postea cotidie praesentem me viderent, habitavi in oculis, pressi forum;

quid multa? destiti stomachari et me unum ex eis feci qui ad aquas venissent.
Quid multa "need I say more?" Desistere "to cease" "to stop" neminem a congressu meo neque ianitor meus neque somnus absterruit.

Need I say more? I stopped being irritated and made myself one of those who had come to the baths.

sed ea res, iudices, haud scio an plus mihi profuerit quam si mihi tum essent omnes Begin with sed scio haud. Prodesse "to be useful to" profuerit is future perfect. gratulati. Gratulati "congratulated"

But I don't know/ I'm not sure, members of the jury, if this thing was not more useful to me than if every one had been congratulating me then.

nam posteaquam sensi populi Romani aures hebetiores, hebetiores "duller" oculus autem esse acres atque acutos, destiti quid de me audituri essent homines cogitare;

For after that I realised that the ears of the Roman people are duller however their eyes are keen and sharp, I stopped thinking about what men heard about me.

feci here "ensured"

me viderent,
habitavi in oculis,
pressi forum;
pressare literally "to press" i.e. "stuck to"

neminem a congressu meo
a congressu meo "from approaching me" leave this to the end of the sentence neque ianitor meus ianitor "porter"
neque somnus absterruit.
Absterruit "to withhold" "to stop"

Translate and compare.

I ensured that they saw me, I lived in their sight, I stuck to the forum; non one neither my porter nor sleep stopped anyone approaching me.

Cicero contrasts hearing and seeing. He says it was a waste of time trying to be heard of. One needed to be seen.

This concludes the extract from Pro Plancio. In the next lesson we will move on to looking at the set extract from In Verrem II.
