

Grammar: Consolidate Second Conjugation (e) Verbs

This is a much smaller group only half the size, in fact. Fill in the meanings here:

apparere

*audere

debere

*delere

*docere

habere

iacere

*iubere

licet¹

*manere

monere

*movere

pareo + dat.

persuadere + dat.*

praeberere

prohibere

*respondere

*ridere

*sedere

*solere

sustinere

tacere

*tenere

¹ Third person only.

terrere

timere

*videre

*invidere+dat.

You also have to know the phrase: in animo habeo and translate placet (from placere). Of course you may get some other e verb in the unseen in which case the meaning will be given for you in the vocabulary on the paper. You will recognise that it is an e verb because it will be shown like this in the vocabulary:

derideo, deridere, derisi, derisum I make fun of pertineo, pertinere, pertinui, pertentum be suitable Notice the infinitives deridere and pertinere. The e after the stems derid and pertin shows you that these are e verbs. If you have the pattern secure for the verbs on the syllabus it will be simple matter to get the correct tense etc. of any e verb in the exam.

This week make sure that you know all the meanings and the tenses thoroughly (get someone to test you) and can never be caught out. In the next grammar lesson we will do a test on the tenses of e verbs.

You can check your vocabulary answers using the syllabus. Verbs on this list marked * are not marked “(2)” on the syllabus because of slight irregularity.

<https://www.cambridgeinternational.org/Images/414212-2020-2022-syllabus.pdf>

A complete set of sheets showing e verbs can be found on Volume 8 of the Mothers' Companion Flashdrive under “Latin Course Part 4/ Grammar Sheets to colour in (Verbs).” There is a useful sheet here: <https://www.thelatinlibrary.com/101/Conjugation12.pdf> also.